"WE'RE GLAD TO SHARE THE NEWS WITH YOU !"

The manufacturer, who received the quotations on the list of Peonies mailed out with our last week's Bulletin, has worked up a "RECAP" of all the offers. We found this summary sheet so interesting that we immediately asked his permission to mail a copy of the report with this week's Bulletin. He consented, and we are glad to share this data with other growers as we consider the information very valuable. Look over the report and see if these figures are not as interesting as a continued story.

A study of the report proves one thing. The new and better Peonies are very, very scarce, and every grower will do well to watch his prices another season, and right now each one of us should make as good a planting as possible of every salable variety in this group of Peonies. On our own list this season, both wholesale and retail, some varieties were priced much too low, and the information gleaned from this summary, combined with the data from our order record, will help us arrive at a fair commercial price on these varieties for next year. In this connection, if we find that other growers are interested and will cooperate with us, we will be glad to prepare and distribute a summary of this year's business showing just what percentage of the total sales was obtained from each variety listed. Of course, such a report would not be very valuable unless a representative group of growers would cooperate in working up the necessary data for the summary. What do you think of the suggestion?

We wish similar figures were available for Irises. It would be a great help to every commercial grower if he could gain some idea of the available stock of each of the better Irises, and their average commercial value. He would then be in a position to arrive at a fair listing price on the Irises he had to offer. We realize that no combination, or group of growers, has a right to determine and fix prices on any commodity, but yet we believe it is entirely legitimate and to the interest of the commercial field in general, to collect the necessary data to enable each grower to know what available stock exists to meet the demand, and thus arrive at a fair commercial value of each variety he has to offer for sale. Let us have your ideas along this line. It seems to us that the working out of such a plan would make a good fall and winter pastime that would bring good returns to all growers who wish to view the present situation in a broad-minded business like way.

PLANTING SPECIALS FOR THE WEEK OF NOVEMBER 17TH
ACCOMPANYING BULLETIN NUMBER 12.

In order to give the small grower an opportunity to stock Peonies that are yet comparatively scarce, we offer varieties in this week's specials that give exceptional values at the prices quoted (compare the retail value with the prices listed below) and we believe every variety has sufficient merit to warrant an investment. Quotations are for three to five eye divisions of good healthy stock offered for immediate delivery. No less than five divisions of a variety furnished on an order, and to secure as wide a distribution of this surplus as possible, we will limit all orders to five divisions of a variety. Order as many varieties as you wish, but no more or less than five divisions of a kind.

TERMS- Cash with order, transportation charges to be paid by purchaser.
A second choice is advisable.
